FORTUNE Impact Initiative

Business leaders face unprecedented pressure as environmental, social, and governance (ESG) concerns rise in importance to companies and communities. People, planet, and purpose have become central to the corporate mission, driving the development of new approaches, new skills, and new organizational structures prompting maximum positive impact.

To support these leaders and to nurture a new generation of leaders, Fortune has created the Impact Initiative, a community fostering collaboration and exchange of information, practices, and insights among executives.
